

Summer'15 Menu

Choose & Follow

5 EDUCATOR BLOGS

(in just 5 minutes)

snack blogs

Ross Morrison McGill
teachertoolkit.me

Goodreads Quote of the Day
goodreads.com

Lisa Swaboda (US)
atlaseducational.wordpress.com

wrap blogs

David Didau
learningspy.co.uk

Alex Quigley
huntingenglish.com

Carl Hendrick
chronotopeblog.com

A.J. Juliani (US)
ajjuliani.com/blog

Greg Ashman (Australia)
gregashman.wordpress.com

coolers

Pernille Ripp (US)
pernillesripp.com

Tony Harbron
schoolsimprovement.net

Julian Stodd
julianstodd.wordpress.com

Seth Godin (US)
sethgodin.typepad.com

Maria Popova (US)
brainpickings.org

LeahKStewart
@LearntSchool

Carl Hendrick
@C_Hendrick

Maria Popova
@brainpicker

Pernille Ripp
@pernilleripp

@TeacherToolkit
@TeacherToolkit

Summer'15 Menu

Choose & Follow

1 SNACK BLOG

(in 1 minute)

Ross Morrison McGill

The ultimate synthesiser of education information. Ross produces simple image rich posts, useful lists and time saving guides for his huge 100k+ following.

Goodreads
Quote of the Day

"The truth will set you free, but first it will piss you off" - who said that? With a free Goodreads account you are bequeath, each and every afternoon, with one short quote. Just one. So we never forget what's truly important at the end of the day.

Lisa Swaboda (US)

This blog paints a vivid picture of the world of the gifted student. How does it feel to be gifted in our schools and in our times? Lisa's gift is in opening this conversation.

Pssst... don't over think this, it's just a starting point

LeahKStewart
@LearntSchool

Carl Hendrick
@C_Hendrick

Maria Popova
@brainpicker

Pernille Ripp
@pernilleripp

@TeacherToolkit
@TeacherToolkit

Summer'15 Menu

Choose & Follow

2 WRAP BLOGS

(in 2 minutes)

Alex Quigley

It's a joy to find teachers and everyday school situations re-cast as classic characters or near forgotten legends. The world needs storytellers like Alex, or we forget to see the adventure.

A.J. Juliani (US)

This teacher does not just talk about student choice; A.J. goes ahead and does it. Then he supports others through the real challenges of choice in school. Why? Because he chose to.

David Didau

Follow David's blog for evidence and answers, that are questioned. He's on a mission for what's right and what's wrong while winning loyal fans by relentlessly critiquing his own, and others, assumptions.

Carl Hendrick

Are you partial to gentle provocations and stimulating conversation around psychology & teacher-led research? Carl is making waves in this area, and it's all looking rather interesting.

Greg Ashman
(Australia)

Greg's "guys, listen... I've figured it out" style is attractive. His writing is such that, even if I don't agree, I've understood his perspective. These posts are firm, and provoke thinking.

Arrgh! Options! Breathe ... which look most fun to you?

Summer'15 Menu

Choose & Follow

2 COOLERS

(in 2 minutes)

Pernille Ripp (US)

Teachers close to quitting can follow Pernille's blog and discover strength. Yes, really. All because of this lady's openness about her own doubts and failures as a teacher, coupled with heart wrenching vision of why teaching matters.

Tony Harbron

Warning: this only counts as a cooler if you find a bit of tweeting lets off steam. Tony collates education news from around the web so you don't have to follow a million feeds to have your say on the latest articles.

Julian Stodd

This clever man is way ahead of us. Julian is all about social learning; talking about it and helping to grow it within corporations. Sure ...this is not strictly about school, but this work is hard to ignore.

Seth Godin (US)

It's like Seth figured out how to live with his eyes open. His blog teaches us how. Pick yourself and make a ruckus. Become a linchpin. It's your turn now.

Maria Popova (US)

What began as an email to a few friends has spiralled into a vast online treasure of literary goodness. This lady mines humanity's works of writing for gems, then presents samples in the most thoughtful way; a Sunday email.

Just two for now. It's easy to add more later...

Summer'15 Menu

Um...

HOW EXACTLY

do I 'follow' a blog?

For full control and no overwhelm..

Follow your 5 Blogs via Email. Yes, there are several other ways of following your favourite blogs: RSS and WordPress Feeds come to mind, as well as following the blogger on Twitter, or even creating a blog reel from your blog.

All of the above are ways to wing it.

The blogs I'm featuring here, and those I share with my email subscribers, have an option to "subscribe via email" or "follow via email" because:

- 1- This makes checking emails way more interesting!
- 2- When you begin commenting on posts, replies are typically sent to your inbox so it's helpful to have posts there too ...keeps everything nicely together :-)
- 3- You'll become a wizz at email management, which is a top life skill anyway

LeahKStewart
@LearntSchool

"Is there any etiquette for commenting on blogs?"

"Could I set up a free blog?"

For even more on & for Educators who Blog subscribe at LeahKStewart.com