

BE PART OF THE POLITICS IN EDUCATION SUMMIT 2015

Want to be heard by the Education Select Committee?

Want to say things to Charities such as TeachFirst?

What about to Education Businesses like Pearson?

Those who attend this year's Politics in Education Summit have all the opportunity to ask questions and make statements to panels of education experts on what's really important for the future of education...

Everything is Recorded, Transcribed + Sent to UK Education Policy Makers & Influencers such as Pearson, TeachFirst, the Select Committee and all the other key players. Who said policy makers were hard to reach?

This Summit is especially for Head Teachers & Education Leaders to attend as self-selected representatives of the stakeholders most affected by Politics in Education. Will you be there too?

POLITICS IN EDUCATION SUMMIT RESPONSIBILITY, IMPACT & CONTROLS The Royal Society, London - Monday 2 November 2015

I won't waste words on the ways government policies have adversely impacted your work, you already know these as well as the recent political moves that make this year's Summit so timely...

When you arrive at the Royal Society, London on November 2nd 2015 you have a whole day to:

- Discover more about the History & Geography of Politics in Education (see speakers below!)
- Make new connections with other Self-Elected Stakeholder Representatives
- Use this Official Platform to Speak Your Truth to Policy Makers

The programme of speakers includes; Professor Mick Waters, Sir John Dunford, Ros McMullen, Angela McFarlane, Sam Freedman, Tim Oates, Henry Stewart, John Bangs and many, many more as you'll see from the event website: www.PoliticsInEducationSummit.co.uk

Teachers! Worried about missing a day of teaching? Think about the message you give your students by standing up to add your voice to issues you feel strongly about, that affect your life. Pass one day of teaching to show your students the importance of speaking up because that's an important lesson too!

Want to support this event? Whether or not you attend we welcome support from educators. To thank you for tweeting (#PoliticsInEducation) and blogging about this in advance we'll include your name + twitter handle + blog address on the event materials for the day!

...just let us know via the email address on the registration page. See you there!

The organisers are a small company, Smooth Events, known for their popular & impactful Summits in the field of Medicine and Health, seeing the need for a similar 'Truth to Power' platform in Education, this Summit on Politics in Education was born!
